First Place with "Gold" at the Visual Studio Reader's Choice Awards for Report Generator List & Label

Constance, Germany, 12/15/2016 – Readers of the renowned Visual Studio Magazine have voted: List and Label took first place in the "Reporting, Analysis and Visualization" category at this year's Reader's Choice Awards. In the 23rd edition of the annual reader survey, the developer component prevailed yet again despite strong competition. Each year, tens of thousands of readers are invited to vote for their favorites in 38 categories. Michael Domingo, Editor in Chief of Visual Studio Magazine, is impressed: "To rise to the top of a tough, competitive category, combit did the nearly impossible. It thoroughly deserves this win for its popular List & Label."

"We always develop our report generator from the viewpoint of the users. The great success in this year's reader survey makes us proud and encourages us to continue to do everything possible to ensure that List & Label remains the best report generator," commented Jochen Bartlau, the happy Managing Director and Head of Development List & Label. "This is a huge success for our team. I'd like to congratulate our developers, without whose commitment List & Label would not be where it is today."
